6/ Some formation about Ha Tinh province

Ha Tinh is among the poorest provinces of Vietnam with 2008 GDP 420 USD/person/ year. The poverty can be attributed to the harsh natural conditions with severe coldness in winter and extreme heat in summer, floods and storms every fall and unfavorable soil and natural resources. A badly-operated district and provincial government is also a hurdle to prosperity. Agriculture, forestry and fishery takes up 35.5 percent of total GDP and the province's GDP accounts for 0.7 percent of Vietnam's GDP (many of the village peoples able to has only one harvest a year for rice because harsh natural condition) . Ha Tinh takes slow steps in economic reforms though better signs in recent time are incentive. Vung Ang harbour with some plants, factories and thermopower plant is becoming the most economic hub.
